

Start an OC Science school chapter at your school!

An OC Science school chapter is an independently-run student organization for students interested in applying their knowledge & passion in STEM in order to help spread Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics throughout their school/community.

We are looking for chapter directors—high school & middle school (8th grade only) students who have a passion for spreading STEM & the OC Science mission throughout their school/community. Other qualities we look for in chapter directors include:

- Leadership & effective communication
- Prompt responses to emails, etc.
- Someone excited to foster a new community at their school through social media & events
- Someone who is fun & friendly!

As a school chapter director, your responsibilities are:

- To dedicate 1-2 hours a week preparing for and leading weekly meetings at your school, as well as participating in monthly OC Science board meetings
- To recruit & manage a committee as necessary to accomplish school chapter goals & the OC Science mission
- To develop innovative marketing strategies in order to recruit new OC Science members for your school chapter
- To promote OC Science events & volunteer opportunities to your chapter
- To represent your school at OC Science meetings and/or events

As a school chapter director, you will gain:

- Development of valuable leadership skills
- Entrepreneurial experience of building an organization from the ground up
- Visibility as a leader of STEM at your school/community
- A strong support network of like-minded individuals!

OC Science provides the following resources to its school chapters:

- Full support from OC Science
- Initial funding & a starter manual that includes marketing, promotional materials, resources for event planning, etc.
- Rights to use the OC Science brand—logo, t-shirts, etc.
- Advice from experienced OC Science board members
- Special opportunities for Chapter Members, whether as volunteers (for community service hours) or participants at workshops and events

Interested in starting a school chapter at your school? Fill out our interest form at Open House or on our website!

OC Science is a student-run, non-profit organization working to inspire and spread interest in science and engineering among youth in Orange County. We are also OCSEF's Youth Leadership Organization.

www.ocscience.org | info@ocscience.org